JUANITO P. LUGASAN
WEB DESIGNER

About Me

I'm a web designer that specializes in making visually appealing Responsive websites that combine style and utility. I bring ideas to life via modern, user-friendly designs that generate outcomes. For a experience where I can apply my excellent organizational skills, educational background, and ability to collaborate effectively with others. I am specifically interested in joining your company as it offers a challenging environment that promotes both professional and personal development.
